Foreword

The BC Ministry of Agriculture, Food and Fisheries is pleased to publish the latest statistics of British Columbia's trade in agri-food & fish products and services for the period 1996-1999. Data revisions by Statistics Canada released February, 2001 are incorporated. The publication shows British Columbia's agri-food & fish trade by commodity and as a total, organized in each case by country groupings. The country groupings are presented both by trading areas and world geographic regions. Additionally, the publication includes a helpful glossary. It is hoped that the publication will be a useful resource and reference on trade statistics for public officials, industry groups in agriculture and agribusiness, researchers and the general public.

Special acknowledgement is made of the complex work done by Dr. Ralph Joyce of Scollard Consulting in extracting the data from the Statistics Canada and BC STATS databases, finalizing the code assignments to commodity categories, compiling all the tables of statistics and preparing the glossary. The Statistical Services Unit of the Ministry remains solely responsible for the contents of the publication. Enquiries, or comments and suggestions to improve the publication may be addressed to:

Glossary

Agri-food and fish product. Refers to food (including fish) for human consumption; and also to non-food agricultural products, up to and including their first stage of processing. For example, oil cake is classified as agri-food product, and so are raw skins but not fur coats.

Export data. Export data are based on Canadian and, in the case of exports to the US, on US customs documents. Values may be understated due to under-reporting. Also, the final destination of exports can be incorrect, particularly where goods are being shipped through a third country.

Commodity. Agri-food and fish exports and imports are classified to 23 commodity groups; with additional detail shown in the case of live animals, meat, fish, grains & oilseeds, and beverages. The commodity halibut also includes greenland halibut/turbot. Other fish products refers to products not for human consumption, and does not include live fish which are classified to other fish. Animal fats also includes oils and grease. Other animal products includes honey, animal hair, entrails, feathers, bones, semen, raw wool, and raw silk. Other plant products includes hops, licorice and ginseng root, lac, natural gums and resins, vegetable saps and extracts, pectin, tobacco, flax, hemp, etc. Industrial by-products include glycerol, vegetable waxes, and degras. Sauces & soups includes items such as extracts, essences and concentrates of coffee, tea and maté (and preparations), yeast, and mustard flour.

Commodity assignments. Export and import data are organized according to the international Harmonized System (HS) which classifies exports to 8-digit codes and imports to 10-digit codes. To analyze this information, BCMAFF has assigned the HS codes for agri-food and fish products to commodity groups and subgroups, and also to the categories raw and processed.

Country grouping/trade area. Refers to the following: Organization of Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD); North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA); European Union (EU); Commonwealth of Independent States (CIS); Association of South East Asian Nations (ASEAN). The countries in each group are listed in the tables presenting country grouping/trade area information.

Data source. The data used in the report were obtained from BC STATS and are based on Statistics Canada merchandise trade statistics. This customs-based information has been adjusted to agree with National Accounts concepts and definitions.

Data revisions. Preliminary trade statistics for the latest year are released by Statistics Canada the following February, along with revised data for the previous three years. Revised data for the latest year (i.e. 2000) are released in August. The report incorporates the revised data for 1996-99 only.

Export valuation. For exports, the value of goods is the amount declared on the export document, FOB (Free on Board) Canadian port of exit. Generally, declared value is the actual selling price or a transfer price used for company accounting purposes.

Import data. Import data are based on Canada Customs import documents and are considered by Statistics Canada to be generally more accurate than export information due to the closer monitoring of imports by customs officials. However, import data refer to the province of import which need not be the province of final destination.

Import valuation. For imports, the value of goods is equivalent to the price paid, excluding the shipment and insurance costs of bringing the goods to Canada.

Processed. A processed commodity is a raw agri-food or fish product that has undergone transformation, up to and including the first level of processing. An example would be canned or frozen corn, or hides and skins. All fish handled by BC fish plants are categorized as processed.

Province of export. Refers to the province of origin for the product being exported.

Province of import. Refers to the province where the product was landed, which is not necessarily the province of destination. As a result, BC import statistics include certain imports destined for other provinces while excluding imports destined for BC but landed elsewhere. As an example, BC STATS has estimated that approximately 29% of BC fish imports are destined for other provinces.

Raw. A raw commodity is an agri-food or fish product that remains in its primary state; e.g., fresh corn packed in boxes.

World region. Refers to the following: North America, Western Europe, Other Europe, Middle East, Other Africa, Asia, Oceania, South America, and Central America Antilles.
